Newry planners set site inspection and public hearing for Powder Ridge

Discussion at the Newry Planning Board meeting last Wednesday centered around three primary issues, the most important of which was the proposed Powder Ridge subdivision, to be constructed on the ridge between the Sunday River and Bear River valleys.

Glover Development Corp. had several representatives attending the meeting. Tom Rasky, from Main Land Development, presented documents and information that were to complete the application for Powder Ridge.

After review of the information the board voted to accept the application as complete. Further discussion on the merits of the application ensued immediately, with discussion centering around two of the many facets of the development. Russ Martin, of Main Land Development, spoke at length about the proposed septic waste disposal systems. The proposed systems are comprised of standard septic tanks draining into peat moss infiltrator beds. The technology is new to the State Plumbing Code. Its primary asset, according to Mr. Martin, is that it allows high building density through more efficient waste treatment.

The second issue discussed was access into the property. The board wished to view the various options available and scheduled a site visit for July 6 to walk the property. Additionally, the board scheduled a public hearing to be held on July 17, at 7 p.m., for public review of the proposed development. The meeting will be held at the Newry Town Office.

In other business, Jeff Yates, of Rumford Center, sought a revision to the Sunday Hill subdivision plan. The revision consisted of a transfer of six acres of land from a lot owned by Yates to an abutting lot owned by Mr. and Mrs. Klapp.

School board backs block scheduling for elementary specialists

The SAD #44 Board of Directors has decided to let stand an administration-proposed plan calling for block scheduling of art, music and physical education specialists in the elementary schools.

The plan, finalized only last week, has drawn fire from a number of elementary teachers—who question its pedagogical effectiveness and who object they were not consulted when it was being formulated.

At Monday evening's regular board meeting a number of board directors objected to the administration's lack of sensitivity in imposing the plan seemingly by fiat, but by the end of a discussion lasting over two hours the board concurred that the decision was within the legitimate scope of the administration's authority.

The board voted to take no action on the matter at this time—thus allowing the plan to stand.

As explained by Superintendent DeWane Craig at Monday evening's meeting, the block scheduling plan calls for specialists in the three areas to be in each district elementary school for designated blocks of time, during which they will meet daily with the pupils.

The blocks vary in length according to subject and school, but generally run from five to eight weeks.

This is a departure from the past scheduling practices, which called for the specialist to meet once a week with students. Physical education and music specialists met with pupils for the entire year; the art specialist saw them for part of the year.

Superintendent Craig said the plan was an attempt to remedy long-standing problems with the scheduling of specialists. For many years teachers have complained of losing class time to numerous interruptions, including specialists, he said, and the specialists have objected to shuffling back and forth among the schools—"using my car as a supply closet," as one specialist put it.

There are difficulties with the plan, the superintendent conceded, but he and the elementary principals felt it was the best way to juggle the number of pupils, the amount of space available and the limited time of the specialists.

As to the complaint that the teachers were not consulted, he argued that the plan was a reaction to teacher comments over a period of years. "I didn't think we needed to poll them again or form

Skiway's Otten selected Entrepreneur of the Year

Arthur Young & Company and INC. magazine, national co-sponsors of the 1989 "Entrepreneur of the Year" awards program, selected Leslie B. Otten, president of Sunday River Ski Resort, as the winner in New England. Some 200 entrepreneurs were candidates in the New England region.

Mr. Otten, who started as an assistant to the manager of the then-unprofitable resort in 1972, was named Entrepreneur of the Year in a start-over or revitalization of a failing company.

When the former corporate owners decided to sell Sunday River in 1980, Mr. Otten, a 1971 Ithaca College graduate, borrowed heavily and bought the underperforming resort. Since 1980, Sunday River has invested heavily in snowmaking and grooming equipment, as well as numerous other improvements and expansions. As a result, 1988 was a record year despite limited snowfall.

The resort's recent growth has been self-financed through profits from ski operations and real estate sales.

Under Mr. Otten's management, the company has increased skiable terrain from 70 acres to 425 acres and added nine new chairlifts.

Starting with just 18 condominium units in 1980, the resort now boasts nearly 700, providing an on-mountain bed-base for over 3,000 guests.

More significantly, annual skier visits have increased from 40,000 in 1980 to 350,000 in 1988, an average increase of nearly 30 percent annually.

Year-round employees have increased from four, in 1980, to 150 year-round, plus nearly 500 seasonal employees.

Mr. Otten and other winners will be inducted into the Hall of Fame of the Institute of American Entrepreneurs during a special ceremony scheduled for Nov. 17-19 in Palm Beach, Fla.

Waste woes plague board

No matter which direction they turned, the Bethel selectmen were faced by problems involving that great bugaboo of modern society—waste. Whether solid waste or sewer waste, the problems were growing—and so were the costs involved with solving them.

Nevertheless, the Board of Selectmen Monday night took two major steps in starting to deal with the town's waste problems.

They agreed to a contract with DuBois & King for $84,000 for design, engineering and supervisory work on the planned sewer plant repair project, which project will allow the plant to adequately process the village's sewerage.

Town voters previously agreed to borrow $480,000 to pay for the plant repairs.

They authorized the town manager to make arrangements with the transfer stations in Norway and Oxford to begin taking 60 percent of the town's household trash beginning July 1.

This action follows an earlier agreement with D&E Sanitation to haul the trash picked up at curbside—about 1,350 tons a year—out of town, instead of to the Bethel landfill.

The hauling of trash to the two Oxford Hills transfer stations would be on an interim basis, pending signing of a formal, year-long contract. On a yearly basis, disposing of 60 percent of the town's household trash at Oxford Hills would cost about $125,000—above the costs borne by residents who have their trash picked up by D&E. (The Town of Newry, which begins hauling all residents' household trash out of town next month, is paying D&E for pickup as well as for hauling.)

Notwithstanding the interim measure to haul 60 percent of Bethel's household trash to transfer stations in the Oxford Hills, the selectmen said they want to continue investigating other long-term alternatives. Among those alternatives are: buying into the Northern Oxford Regional Solid Waste Board (a cooperative transfer station involving Rumford area towns); setting up a transfer station in Bethel for the town's trash as well as trash from surrounding towns; signing long-term contracts with the Norway-Paris Solid Waste group or the Oxford transfer station; or waiting to see what possible solutions the governor comes up with.

The entire board is agreed, however, that space must be preserved at the present landfill, to the extent possible, for emergencies. And this means sending out of town as much solid waste as possible, despite the cost.

In other solid waste action, the board authorized the town manager to hire a consultant to help prepare an application to the Department of Environmental Protection to renew the state permit for the landfill. It comes up for renewal in January 1992.

The board went behind closed doors to discuss the police chief hiring process. They were scheduled to interview the four top candidates for the police chief's job last night (Tuesday). The ad hoc citizen committee was to help in the interviewing.

Prior to the closed-door session, the board discussed, and adopted, interim police procedures dealing with everything from uniforms to smoking to care of the cruiser to handling complaints against police officer conduct.

There was no hesitation in instituting written policies before a new chief was hired. "Whoever we hire, it is their

Public hearing July 6 on management plan for county's public lands

A draft plan for managing the natural resources on 22,800 acres of publicly owned land in northern Oxford County will be discussed at a public review meeting on Thursday, July 6, in Rangeley. The 6:30 p.m. meeting will be held by the Bureau of Public Lands at the high school in Rangeley.

There are over 450,000 acres of Public Reserved Lands in Maine. Most of the landbase has been consolidated into 21 large parcels—called "units"—which are managed by the bureau for multiple uses. The draft management plan is for the Richardson Unit—located in Adamstown-T4R2, and Richardson-T4R1.

The Richardson Unit is located in the Rangeley Lakes Region and offers a semi-remote recreational experience for people interested in camping, fishing, canoeing and other backcountry-type opportunities. Associated with the unit are several miles of shore frontage on Mooselookmegguntic and Richardson Lakes. A system of water-access campsites are located along the lakes, managed for the state by South Arm Campground. I encourage anyone with an interest in the management of Maine's publicly owned lands to obtain a copy of the draft plan and attend the meeting."

NITL begins 42nd summer season

Nearly 1,000 people are expected to visit Bethel this summer to take part in NITL Institute courses and programs. This marks the 42nd summer NITL will hold workshops and seminars in Bethel.

According to Nancie Coan, the behavioral science institute's Bethel manager, participants will be coming from all parts of the world for the summer programs. The attendees traveling the farthest will likely be a couple coming all the way from New Zealand to spend four weeks here.

NITL's summer program this year, which began last week, includes 42 one- and two-week courses, as well as the ever-popular Sunrise Seminars.

The seminars, which are taught by institute members, are free to the public and draw a regular crowd of Bethel-area residents.

The seminars have occasionally drawn more than 100 people, Ms. Coan said, and some local people make it a point not to miss a single one over the course of the summer.

The Sunrise Seminars are 45 minutes in length and begin at 7:30 a.m. They will be held this year in the lobby of the Bethel Inn Conference Center.

The institute's regular offerings this summer include programs in such areas as "The World of Work: Skills Pro-

Freedom of information throttled

When the Town of Woodstock was seeking applicants for the vacant town manager position last year, The Citizen was able to report to its readers the names and qualifications of those who were in the running for the position.

As the Town of Bethel goes through its search for the best nominee for the vacant police chief post, local taxpayers—who will be the actual employer of the chief—are able to read in The Citizen about the range of candidates. Of the 14 who applied for the position, three are local, while a half-dozen others are currently serving on police forces in various parts of the state. All of this has been reported previously in The Citizen.

However, thanks to the action of the State Legislature, the next time Woodstock seeks candidates for town manager, and the next time Bethel is shopping for a new police chief, local taxpayers will be in the dark as to the names and qualifications of those applying for the jobs. The first word Citizen readers will have of the applicants will be when the person chosen by the selectmen is announced.

There are some—particularly in the Maine Municipal Association and among local town officials—who think good government is served, by keeping the hiring process completely secret.

The Citizen, on the other hand, believes that freedom of information—upon which good government depends—has been castrated by the passage of LD 1328, "An Act Providing Confidentiality for Public Sector Job Applicants."

The hall of shame (those legislators who voted for curtailing taxpayers' right to know) includes the following area representatives: Phyllis Erwin (D-Rumford), Dana Hanley (R-Paris), Jeff Mills (D-Bethel), and Joe Walker (D-Norway). In the senate, Ed Erwin (D-Rumford) voted to throttle the free flow of information.

Among those who voted to maintain the taxpayer's right to know the qualifications of those applying for public sector jobs were representatives Conrad Heesch (D-Wilton) and Ida Luther (D-Mexico) and, in the senate, Don Twitchell (D-Norway).

The anticitizen piece of legislation was put together by the Maine Municipal Association, which handles job searches for many municipalities in the state. In fact, the MMA handled the last search for a Bethel police chief—at a cost to the town of $2,600 for search fees, plus an eight-month waiting period.

Understandably, the MMA doesn't want the public looking over its bureaucratic shoulder while it goes about picking the people it prefers for local positions. However, that is no reason for the Legislature to side with the MMA against the right of the populace.

Adding insult to injury is the fact that local towns pay to support the MMA, which then uses the money to lobby against the interests of local residents. Two weeks ago, Bethel Town Meeting voted to give the MMA $1,813, which the MMA will use to continue its efforts to pull a black curtain around the activities of local officials. The legislators who supported the MMA should be ashamed of themselves. bfw

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

Thank you for looking into the "fish story" for me. Imagine how surprised I was when I read the "little item" in the June 27 Lewiston Sun, that these men were to be charged with "theft" and "criminal mischief." Quote, unquote.

Personally, $80,000 is a lot of mischief, but then, when you consider that the highest office in the land goes on the auction block every four years and is knocked down to the highest bidder, it's not surprising that all dead fish do stink.

When you consider that you get fined for littering the sidewalk or the roadside, but it's OK to burn the American flag,

To the Editor:

Friday, June 25, marked the end of a very busy week for the participants in the Bethel Dance Theatre, under the superb direction of Susan Clement Farrar.

I feel very grateful that this small community has this dance theatre to expose our children to the beauty of dance.

Miss Sue, as we affectionately call her, has given our children the opportunity to expand on their artistic abilities in various areas of dance, theatre, stage production, props, group participation and above all, self-esteem.

Sue epitomizes the beauty of dance and she instills in all our children the desire to be professional.

Again this year, Miss Sue choreographed a dance production that astounded all who saw it.

Each child has a special place within the production and Miss Sue insists that they all work to their very best ability. This is not a very hard task for our children because Miss Sue, above all else, instills the love of dance, and once that seed has been planted our children grow into the graceful, entertaining performers that we all had the pleasure of seeing [a week ago] Friday night.

Our sincere and heartfelt thanks to you, Miss Sue, for your dedication to the betterment of our children and for sharing your gift of dance with us all. You are a treasure to our community and hold a special place in all our hearts.

The Carson Family

dead fish do nothing but stink.

When you look at the scandals, corruption, greed, outright theft in the whole system that's laughably called infallible, it's not at all surprising that dead fish do nothing but stink.

Of course, my opinion is based on an "old fashioned" upbringing, breaking windows, tearing up someone's garden. Hard core crime like that, $80,000, is not mischief. It's not something that grown men do. It's not something police officers do, this is not mischief. That these men were "allowed" to go and get fish from the hatchery is a bit "fifty on the part of the people who have charge of the place.

Perhaps this case is one all the sportsfiscmen and women should take to the mat. Every now and again people in this state are heard, hard. This issue should not be allowed to skim by with a slap on the land and a "no, no."

I invite all of you who are as outraged as I, to write to Bill Vail, who's head of the Fish and Wildlife Department, and express your disappointment with how this matter is being handled. The department should have handled this investigation instead of the Augusta police.

I don't anticipate too much of a hassle about the whole bit. After all, as I've said, all dead fish do stink.

Bethel

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Health Center's Board of Trustees noted your June 14 page 1 news item about the center. The interests of keeping your readership well and accurately informed, it appears that certain clarifications are in order.

Two long-term, dedicated and loyal employees of the center resigned in December 1988. The board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Muriel Whitney, RN, and Mrs. Mary Brown with a sense of great sadness.

Jim Delamater did not resign from the board. Jim expressed regrets that he could not continue to devote the time and energy he felt was necessary to be a board member and chose to not accept another three-year term. He graciously agreed, however, to continue as a member of the Finance Committee.

HAROLD PERHAM FIELD, in West Paris, is the perfect place to spend a weekday evening or a sunny Sunday afternoon watching a Westies ballgame.

Westies off to strong start

The Keiser Homes Westies are once again near the top of the standings in the Pine Tree League.

With half the 18 game season completed, the Westies are in third place, with a 6-3 record, behind Lewiston, 7-1, and Rumford, 8-2.

Lewiston, which defeated the Westies for the league championship last season, remains the team to beat, according to player/manager Mark Thurlow. In their two most recent meetings, Lewiston prevailed, 15-4 and 4-3, but the two teams are likely to meet again in the championship playoffs.

Mr. Thurlow credits his team's strong showing to a solid pitching staff, anchored by Nat Harris and Bethel's Levi Brown, plus a reliable offensive attack, led by John Ladd and Keith Morang.

Mr. Thurlow reports that the rebuilt infield at Harold Perham Field is in fine playing shape. During last month's heavy rains, the Little Androscoggin River flooded the field, but it was rebuilt by team members and other volunteers in time for the opening of the season.

Dump stickers coming for Albany Township

Residents of Albany Township will soon need to show windshield stickers when they take a load of trash to the dump.

The stickers will also be required of Stoneham and Waterford residents, who also use the dump.

Officials say the stickers are in part an attempt to deal with the problem of trash from other outside towns being left at the Albany dump. The stickers are only one of a number of options being considered for tightening up dump operations.

The stickers will be available free to all residents and property owners.

Peak's Island. The board approved Mr. Yates' request for the transfer.

Outward Bound brought in revised plans for a proposed warehouse and staging facility, to be located on property near their L.L. Bean Center and Kresge Building in Newry. The revisions were considered not to have a significant effect on the original permit as the number of people using the facility would remain constant and most changes reflected a rethinking of traffic flow inside the facility. The board voted unanimously to accept the revised plans.

In a meeting of the Newry Planning Board held on June 7, several items of business were undertaken.

Bob Mercier, owner of Bear River Post and Beam, brought in plans for a sign advertising his business. The board voted unanimously to approve his proposal.

Bill Stowell, of Land-Tech, representing Mr. Grouffau, of Swampscott, Mass., inquired about subdividing Lot #10 in the Barker Mountain Village into two lots. The board advised that an opinion of the rules regarding such a division would be sought from the Maine Municipal Association.

David Walker presented the mylar plans of Nordic Knoll subdivision for signing. After inspection of the plans both mylars were signed.

Steve Wright presented the mylar plan of his subdivision located at Newry Corner for board approval. Noting that the length of two culverts on the plat should be modified to suit as-built conditions, the board signed the plans.

Sunday River Ski Resort produced plans for the proposed ski dorm project. Mr. Aloisio, a land planner working for Sunday River, was advised that the completed project must provide site screening for the trash dumpsters, and include a sign denoting that no public vehicles would be allowed on the service road. In further comments the board asked that a traveled way was to be demarcated and maintained in the 66 day parking lot. Approval for construction of this project was granted, with the above mentioned conditions included as part of the plan.

another committee," he said "A number of people have told me they were tired of having meetings piled on top of meetings."

Woodstock Elementary School Principal David Murphy agreed with the superintendent's assessment. "Folks, there's times when you can't involve everybody," he told the board. "At some point in time the administration has to be allowed to do its job."

Mr. Murphy's comments in support of the administration inadvertently raised another concern, however—that of possible administration intimidation of the teachers.

Earlier in the meeting, Director Stan Howe, of Bethel, who strongly and repeatedly criticized the administration's handling of the matter, asked for assurances that the teachers were not being improperly pressured to acquiesce to the plan.

Mr. Murphy, however, seemed to provide evidence of just such pressure when he said he was "very concerned" that some WES teachers were at the board meeting to protest the plan. "My staff didn't tell me they were coming," he complained.

When he went on to say that the WES staff had agreed to try the block scheduling plan for a year, there were audible murmurs of "no!" behind him.

Mr. Murphy later told the board he hadn't meant to pressure his staff, but he felt that they normally worked so closely together as a team that he was surprised he hadn't know of their objections to the plan.

Approximately a dozen teachers attended Monday evening's meeting. Most did not speak, but Jolene Shimamura, Melanie Ellsworth and Sue Howe described various possible problems with the plan, and with the way it was developed.

Many directors expressed sympathy with the teachers' concerns, but in the end the directors overwhelmingly concurred that the issue was a scheduling decision, and as such was up to the administration to make.

As they have in the past, however, a number of directors suggested that the administration be more sensitive to the possible public relations consequences of its decisions and its decision-making process.

In other action Monday, the board agreed to allow the marching band to participate in the 25th anniversary celebration of the Battle of Lexington, to be held April 16, 1990 in Lexington, Mass.

The board also approved the following personnel appointments: Mary Jane Gaudreau as part-time Kindergarten teacher for WES for the 1989-90 school year; Lee Dolleman as Telstar special education composite room teacher, and Raymond Robert as lead grounds person.

The board also gave formal approval to the district's town assessments for 1990. The assessments are as follows: Andover—$960,399; Bethel—$769,887; Greenwood—$245,890; Newry—$662,716; Woodstock—$378,286.

The board voted to cancel its regularly scheduled meeting of July 10. Prior to the business portion of Monday's meeting, baseball team captain Nathan Bean presented Telstar High School Principal Ted Davis with a trophy commemorating the school's Class C Maine State Championship.

Mrs. Hilda Brown, of the school's food services department, was presented with plaques honoring her 30 years of service to the district.

Board members Margaret Hand, of Woodstock; Malinda Seames, of Greenwood; and Betsy White, of Andover, did not attend Monday's meeting.

department to run," said Selectswoman Pat Doon. "These [policies] have to be general and flexible," suggested Selectman John Thurston, "because you have to give a new man his head."

But Chairman Arlan Jordrey said, "We owe it to our present police force and to whoever comes on board that we have basic policies." Town Manager Rodney Lynch pointed out, "They can be changed [after a new chief takes over]."

Former Bethel Police Officer Rickie Osgood had publicly criticized the department for not having written policies. The policies discussed Monday night were based on suggestions provided by the town manager by Police Officer Dale Bellman. (Both Osgood and Bellman have applied for the vacant chief's position.)

The board also adopted, at the suggestion of the town manager, a policy on Bethel police responding to calls for assistance in neighboring towns. Town Manager Lynch said, "With Bethel going to three full-time officers, we're going to be the only law in this part of the country." In recent weeks, he told the board, the Bethel cruiser had gone to Gilead and Greenwood to assist county officers.

Mr. Lynch said the police had to guard against the tendency of responding to these out-of-town calls, although he said it would be proper to go as a back-up to assist another law enforcement agency.

He suggested the town might want to start billing neighboring towns if the Bethel cruiser covers calls in those towns. Selectman Jordrey agreed: "I think we should—hourly rate, mileage and overhead."

Voting on the new police policies was 4-0. Selectman Haines was absent, still recuperating from a broken hip suffered in a fall two weeks ago.

6th-graders learn math by constructing bridges

A 6th Grade math class at Telstar Middle School recently completed a bridge project. The unit was developed by Linda Davis, math teacher, and was cooperatively taught by Mrs. Davis and Carol Nielsen, F.O.C.U.S. teacher.

The project started with a speaker, Jim Sysko, who discussed various types of bridges and how they were constructed. Students then did further research on bridges. Each student designed their own bridge, prepared a cost estimate and a verbal description to present to the "Daviaville" selectmen.

The selectmen awarded the bid to Joel Riley. Each student then bought materials (paper, straws and pins), constructed their bridge and learned how to

Items pouring in for Rotary Club auction

The Bethel Rotary Club auction is set for Friday, July 14, at 7 p.m., at the Telstar cafeteria. This event will kick off the club's activities for the busy, Mollycodd weekend.

Last year's auction netted over $3,000 for the club's activities, including the college scholarship program, Christmas for Children, the Senior Citizen's Christmas party, and the Camp Susan B. Curtis scholarship.

The Bethel Rotary Club is once again seeking the support of individuals and area businesses to help make this auction a success.

The club would like to thank the following sponsors for the generous contributions during the first week of the campaign:

Jo and Romeo Baker, a beautiful framed painting valued at over $300; Sunday River Ski Resort, a two-night multi-vacation for four during March of 1989, which includes a one-bedroom condominium, four two-day lift tickets and full use of the pool, jacuzzi and sauna, a $600 value; a cash donation by Ralph Merrill Plumbing and Heating; Bethel Furniture Store, one load of kiln dried firewood delivered within 30 miles, $87 value; Mollycodd Motel and Swim Spa, a one-night stay for an individual family of four to the Swim Spa, $17 value; Ripley and Fletcher Co., $10 gift certificate; Oxford Aviation Inc., one 30-minute flight for one to three people, $30 value; Maine Line Products, $25 gift certificate; Citizen Press, 1,000 business cards, $25 value; The Douglas Place, one-night stay including continental breakfast, $48 value; Joe Galdis, a large screen projection color television set in good condition; Mt. Abram Ski Slopes, a 1989-90 season pass for the ski area, $450 value; The Harmons House, one-night stay for two, including breakfast, $65 value; The Old Rowley Inn, four $10 gift certificates; Bonenna Pottery, $25 gift certificate; Goodwin's Incorporated/Stuart Goodwin, $25 gift certificate for Shiner's Restaurant; Bethel Day Care, certificate for one day of childcare; and many, many items donated by local citizens, too numerous to mention.

Businesses and individuals wishing to contribute to the auction should send their donations to Bethel Rotary Auction, R.F.D. #1, Box 176, Bethel, 04217. To arrange for pick up of donations, call Dave Murphy at 824-2941.

West Bethel

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Mary Kay:
As a devotee of your skin care system for the past 18 years, I feel justified in writing for help. When I am on bended knees in one of several gardens, my face is protected by sun screen, covered by a layer of "day radiance" covered by a healthy squirt of bug repellent. As the sun rises in the sky, and I begin to perspire, everything melts and runs down over my brow and into my eyes. The stuff stings like blazes.

So, I'm asking you to set your lab technicians to work in search of a product that would contain all the necessary protection for a day in the Maine woods, or gardens, or fields, while remaining dry and harmless to the sclera. I'm sure that other Maine complexioners would welcome such a timely, stingless product.

While you're dabbling in Dallas, we'll continue to live the good rural life. We congregate for church suppers, grange suppers, anniversaries. We take small trips, large trips, return from southern migrations, hay our fields and help our friends.

Last week, the folks of this village conveyed their casseroles, their beans, and their pies to the West Bethel Union Church and fed a hundred or so folks from neighboring villages and a few far-off places. Then the same group trooped on down to South Paris (Maine) the next day to help Rev. Norman Rust and wife Betty celebrate their silver anniversary. This time, the folks at Goldstreet Restaurant provided the bounty and the space. But our own Arlene Bean created the tiered "wedding" cake that was at once delightful and delectable. "Rusty" and Betty renewed their vows in front of the wealth of well-wishers and introduced us to aunts, uncles, and cousins from New Brunswick and other faraway places. Daughter Barbara and son Brian were on hand to toast their parents and to greet the guests and make them feel welcome.

Later in the week, Frances A. Bennett (Main Street), Clara Rolfe, and Helen Saunders hopped on the Senior Citizen bus and headed west for a New Hampshire outing. The group toured Heritage House, rode the North Conway Scenic Rails, dined at the Studebaker Restaurant, and slipped in some mall shopping before the bus headed back through the mountains for home.

Helen was back in time to grab her gavel and open the Grange that is the regulars for dinner a-la-pollock were Georgia Herrick, Myrtle and Louis Bisbee, of Oxford Grange, Tom Vautour, of the come-up-and-help-your-father-with-the-pool-deck Vautours, and John Niseley, featured speaker, from the Androscoggin Home Health Services. Also on hand for their first "taste" of Grange, were Constance and Harold McKeown, of Hanover.

The grangers sipped their coffee and listened to John Niseley describe the functions of Androscoggin Home Health, the only Medicare-certified agency of its kind serving Oxford, Androscoggin, and Franklin counties, with spillover into Cumberland and Kennebec. He noted that the aim of the agency is to keep people in their homes as long as possible and that, according to their motto, that is just "Where the Caring Begins." The 370 employees of the non-profit agency offer a wide range of services that include occupational, physical and speech therapies, homemaking and hospice. Niseley used a slide presentation to demonstrate the program in place, with shots of the team in action, bringing helping hands to the homes of teen mothers and centenarians alike, teaching, advising, and, according to the spokesman and the evidence on the screen, always caring.

Upstairs, at the regular meeting (which followed the Home Health presentation), the Bisbees assumed their roles as State and Junior Deputies as they "inspected" our ritualistic proficiency. In spite of the intent of the proceedings, all present had a giggling good time.

On the Flat Road, meantime, the population count is up, swelled by the return-from-the-south of a few, and new and not-so-new residents of others. A belated welcome to Ralph and Joyce Donnaruma, fairly new owners of Emerson and Loretta Merrill's former home, and current welcome to Dick and Natalie Fain, newly ensconced in the home sold to them by the Cloughs. The latter, Bud and Shirley, are settling into their new spot further down the street, after a winter in Florida. And "welcome back" to John and Ruby Rolfe who move between the Flat Road and Florida with the seasons.

As Tom the "lie-setter" drove away in his brand new Toyota pickup the other day, Richard (Vautour) and Laura (Tabloski) arrived at the Maine-ger for a quick hello on their return from a whirlwind tour of Quebec City and Montreal. They had been practicing their French and their Epicurean elan for several days and were happy to munch on a lobster roll and chat in English with us rural "rents" (that's young-folk-talk for "parents").

That's what the week looked like here in western Maine, Mary. We spend a lot of our time in the great and glorious outdoors that surround us. So I beg you, please see if you can come up with an all-in-one solution to my anti-ultraviolet, anti-aging, anti-insect needs. My dermis is depending on you.

Give a hug and a hello to Irene Shea for me. (I assume that she is still on top of the world as a National Director. She introduced me to skin care in 1971 in my kitchen in Weston, Mass.)

I'm off down the road to inquire after the health of the local bobolink population. Farmer Koronen hayed his field the other day, and I've been concerned for the welfare of the new crop (of birds, that is)...maybe there's some kind of relocation program that goes into effect just before mowing...

Take care, and write soon. Oh, by the way...the July grange meeting has been moved up to July 13, in case you happen to be in town then. Stop in for pot luck.

Love, C.B.

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

The annual business meeting of the Songo Cemetery Association was held here Tuesday evening, June 20, after previous postponements due to rainy weather. Nine members discussed old and new business and re-elected the officers. Earlon Keniston, president; David Salway, vice-president; Mary Keniston, secretary; Alice Kimball, treasurer; Robert Anderson, Phyllis Bancroft and Maxine Brown, board of directors. A food sale will be held at a date to be announced.

Mrs. Christine Kimball with two of her cousins, Mrs. Marian Reed, of Yarmouth, and cousin Hazel, from Massachusetts, enjoyed a three-day sightseeing trip recently through western Maine and New Hampshire.

Mrs. Millie Wentzell, Mrs. Ethel Herr and Mrs. Dot Orino have arrived at their summer homes here.

Bernie and Kassl Gatchell, of Auburn, were Saturday visitors of her parents and helped her mother Norma Salway celebrate her birthday.

Mrs. Eva Schools and Mrs. Jordie Merrill were visitors Sunday afternoon of Mrs. Elmina Day.

Mrs. Norma Salway, Mrs. Amy Davis, Mrs. Meg Cousins and Mrs. Barbara Ferguson enjoyed their annual outing to North Conway Monday.

Tuesday Norma and I went to Norway and also visited with Mrs. Irene Hutchinson in South Paris.

One of their grandsons, from Highland, Mass., recently visited with John and Helen Kallis.

Mrs. Norma Salway, Mrs. Saundra Cohen and Mrs. Wendy Lord were in Portland Friday on school business.

Callers here this week were Mrs. Helen Jewell, of Waterford, Wednesday, and Rev. and Mrs. Tom Caton on their way home to Ashland on Thursday.

The country is lyric—the town dramatic. When mingled they make the most perfect musical drama.

Through a 10-year-old's eyes

By ALEX GILLIES

Vacation has been great. I've slept late, watched "The Price is Right," and seen my friends. But now I'm going to camp. I'll have a lot more fun then, and I'll never be bored. My mother and I went to Portland Wednesday and shopped for five hours and I got almost everything I needed.

I saw a pretty big bull moose up at Sunday River on Thursday. On Friday I saw a big bull moose with a really big set of antlers. They were sure are around. Well, I'll be back on August 15. Have a good summer.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

The title of Pastor Hanscom's Father's Day message was "Comparisons of Fathers" with Scripture readings from Genesis 12:1-3; Titus 2:9-15; St. Luke 17:3-4. Church organist, Nancy Hanscom, sang a solo "My Father's Child."

Shawn Farriente, Newcastle, visited his great grandmother, Mary Tripp, last weekend.

A total of 60 mothers and children attended the annual trip to Story Land, in Glen, N.H., Monday, June 19. The trip is sponsored by the Mothers Club.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Thelma Lowery, Louise Tetley and Gilberte Seely were at Oxford Lanes, Rumford, bowling June 20. Betsy was high on single, beating Thelma, Louise and Gilberte, who were tied for second place by two points. Thelma was high on triple.

Julianne Wight, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Wight, Fairfield, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wight, was dedicated at ceremonies at the Baptist Church, Winslow, Sunday, June 18. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wight, Thomas Wight, Scott Wight, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Brooke, Seneca and Amber, Susan Bowie, Jennifer and Christopher, Edith Murphy, Lisa Tessier. Julianne was born May 3.

Dick Cameron, Munsonville, N.H., and Jim Mumford, Keene, N.H., were at Uller camp in Riley recently.

Peggy Wight of Newry returned Sunday from a weeklong ocean sailing adventure aboard the schooner "Westward," owned by Sea Education Association, Inc., of Woods Hole, Mass. Offered to parents of former SEA students, the trip taught sailing and navigation skills and marine science research techniques as well as giving participants an understanding of life at sea.

Peggy received a warm welcome from the crew of the "Westward," who remembered her son Keith as a participant in a six-week SEA semester course in the spring of 1988 and a member of the crew that spent last summer refitting the ship in Rockland.

Peggy says she may not be ready to give up the mountains for the lure of the sea on a permanent basis, but that there is something to be said for sailing among surfacing whales and living in a mobile community without telephones.

THE NORTHLAND'S ICE CREAM SHOP is now open, in the back portion of the Bethel Craftworks shop, on Main Street, Bethel. Above, Louise Chapman has the happy job of scooping out the summertime treats.

Lions seek applicants for Princess Mollykett

The Bethel Lions Club is in the process of choosing a young lady to be honored as Princess Mollykett during Mollykett Day, Saturday, July 15.

Young women interested in vying for the honor should submit a short background history of themselves, a recent photograph, and a short essay on why they would like to be Princess Mollykett and what it would mean to them and to the community. The minimum age for applicants is 15; the maximum age is 18.

Applications should be submitted to the Bethel Lions Club, P.O. Box 314, Bethel, 04217; or contact Lion Jay Willard, at 824-2715, for more information.

Princess Mollykett will preside over Mollykett Day festivities such as the parade, the awarding of prizes, etc. She will also be presented with a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, a trophy from the Bethel Lions Club, plus a photo session. Deadline for submission of applications is July 10.

Maine Street '90 gets going in Newry

Monday, June 19, the Maine Street '90 chairman held a meeting with interested citizens of Newry—the first organizational meeting—to plan a calendar of events to celebrate the town by beautifying and special events.

The first real order of business is to plan a gala few days to entertain the guest from Newry, Ireland, Catherine Donnelly, will be arriving at Portland Aug. 23 and leaving Aug. 28. There is a plan to have a picnic at the municipal building so that Ms. Donnelly will have a chance to meet local citizens on Aug. 28, but other plans for that night have not been firming up. On Sunday she will be invited to the anniversary celebration at the Newry Community Church.

Local organizers of Maine Street '90 hope residents will display products or services at the town office to show what Newry has to offer.

Those attending the organizing session were: Louise Tetley representing the Ladies Circle, Gil Seely representing Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club, Kevin Slater representing Outward Bound (Kevin has volunteered, on behalf of Outward Bound, manpower to paint the church and the Sunday River School), Owen Wight representing Bear River Grange, Sylvia Wight representing the Newry Community Church and the chairwoman, June Swan.

One of the concerns is that there is a need to have some outdoor housekeeping done. Organizers hope to present a real "neat town" to Ms. Donnelly, as well as to all who pass by.

The organizers would appreciate any and all suggestions that anyone in Newry wants to give. Firm plans must be sent to the Maine Street '90 state chairman before Aug. 1.

CHRIS DEMELIA, Grade 4, demonstrated to visitors at the Woodstock School curriculum fair how a water wheel works.

High Street West

By VIVA WHITMAN

Another week gone by and the date of summer all that much nearer. Not too good to look outside this morning as it is cloudy again. Had a couple of good days but got to have more rain from the weather forecast. We really don't need it now and wish those who do could get it instead of us, but that don't seem to be the way it works. Got to take what we get whether we like it or not.

Got a card from Peggy that she had a good flight to Florida and that her great granddaughter is a doll. Didn't really expect anything different. We grandmothers or great grandmothers all think our grandchildren are the tops and the most beautiful of all. We wouldn't be normal if we didn't.

My daughter-in-law took me to the doctor's last week on Thursday. Then Thursday evening we drove to Olive Risko's home and went with her to Dixfield where there was the last three point meeting of Franklin, Oxford and Mount Sugarloaf Granges. There was a real good turnout and more so as Wilton Grange came for their mystery ride. The hall was full and we had a good program and a good time. It was nice for me to be able to get back to see some of the Grangers again. Hadn't been since I had the operation.

Got over the operation well but got a couple of bugs in the hospital that laid me low for awhile. If there had been tests made sooner I am sure I would have gotten over it sooner. As it was, the medicine I was given worked against the bugs instead of getting rid of them. Perhaps I should have said the medicine worked with the bugs; no matter, I didn't get over it until the medicine was changed. Russell and I went to town on Friday and got groceries and did a few other errands that needed doing.

Saturday was a day for doing things around the house and Russell did what he could outside. With Peggy gone he didn't get to go to a dance, though he would have liked to. Afraid it will be the same this week as I am not up to dancing as yet.

Wynona and Mike and girls came to visit on Sunday and brought Russell a nice gift, even if he isn't a father. They stayed to dinner with us so we had a good visit before their going to California.

Monday was a day for Grange at Franklin at Bryant Pond so we drove up and went to that Monday evening. Visiting officers night and we all did well in getting someone to take our offices for us so had a good turnout there. Visitors brought something for the program, which made it nice. Thanks to all who came and helped out. Monday had been a grand day weather-wise, and so was Tuesday. It seemed good to have a couple of days of reprieve from the wet weather.

Tuesday was the day for Wynona, Mike and the girls to leave for California. I was glad it was a good day for them to fly out. Got a call from Mike to let me know they made it all right. Helps make me feel better. He said the girls were interesting but I was gone when the call came so don't know just what he meant. It was their first flight to remember so it might have made it interesting in many ways. They sure had to leave Portland early and it must have been hard on the girls. I shall be interested to hear how they like flying. Hope it was better than I did going out to Colorado. I wasn't thrilled on the flight out but didn't mind it coming back. Guess one has to get used to it like so many other things in life.

North Paris

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

The weather this week should make everyone happy, to go in bathing and haying. The gardens are really showing things coming up. I bet Olive Davis didn't have to put her furnace on this week.

Sunday, June 18, we visited the Norman Millets at their camp and called on the Richard Felts.

Tuesday, June 20, we went to Zayres and visited Leon and Doris Pinkham.

Wednesday, June 21, took Root Lawrence to emergency at Stephens Memorial on the borderline of pneumonia. Gertrude Birney, a cousin, was a patient. If I had known, I'd visited her. I did go see Evelyn Corbet a few minutes.

Callers at the Lawrences: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Coffin and Jimbo, Iva Davis, Dover N.H., Joe Vatcher, Joe Kalinowski, Rich Fell.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Isley had as company Phyllis and John Floude, Jane and George Fowler, Tom and Anne Christen, Helen and Sandra and children, all from Massachusetts.

LOCAL GIRLS OFF TO SEA

Sara Wight, daughter of Steve and Peggy Wight, of Newry, and Noel Gauthier, daughter of Jackie Gauthier and the late Arthur Gauthier, of Mayville, Bethel, left last Tuesday for Bar Harbor to participate in a Marine Science Education Cruise aboard the schooner "Harvey Gamage."

Sponsored by the University of Maine Extension Service, the cruise is offered to high school students as a means of increasing awareness of opportunities in the field of scientific research and broadening horizons and aspirations.

Sara and "Binky" will spend four days and three nights at sea sailing the vessel and learning ocean research techniques, coastal Maine ecology, seamanship, coastal navigation, and sea lore. Both girls will begin their freshman year at Telstar in the fall.

For a grand time. Also, West Paris Grange will be having past masters night at Grange on July 6 and all are invited to attend. The more past masters there the better, so Grange members come and have a good time with West Paris Grange.

I wish everyone a good week ahead with lots of health besides. Take care one and all.

SARAH STOWELL, a 6th-grader at Woodstock Elementary School, explained to visitors at the school's recent curriculum fair how a hot air balloon functions. Nearly 500 people toured the multi-purpose room, examining the various student projects.

CARD OF THANKS

Ken McInnis and family want to express their heart felt thanks to everyone for the cards, gifts, flowers, emotional support and prayers during Ken's illness. Your kindness was overwhelming and words cannot express how much we appreciated your concern and support during these difficult times. God bless you all.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

At dawn this first day of summer, it was a quiet, pensive moment. Was Nature holding its breath? The stillness seemed as if there should be another moment of drama to come.

Suddenly I became aware of bird songs and breezes humming through the trees.

The world was new and young. The mist of night still lay in the valley and the shore of the pond was revealed bit by bit, as though created anew for this particular day. Then came the sun, bathing the hills to gentle glow.

The grass glistened in the morning light and the slant of the sun picked out the ripening spears. The graceful swallows swam close above the grass. Then they melted away.

I have spent much time outside on these nice days. There has been a lot of "catching up" to do. My lawnmower was hospitalized for a week so there was much to mow when he arrived home.

Then, there it was, asking to be raked. That's where the wheelbarrow came in handy. Did you ever stop to think how useful one can be? Its two hardwood handles make two calloused hands. It travels without going far from home. In early spring a few drops of oil hushes its loudest complaint and it travels through mud and rain. The July sun and August thunderstorms find it ready. In fall there's the harvest and the frosts. With faith it can move mountains, and all it needs is human companionship. And no load ever fits it better, as I find, when my energy fails, than its welcoming seat. A chair or bench is usually too far away to reach. Best of all it is shaped for this purpose.

James Whitcomb Riley wrote of "knee deep in June." We are there now, with roses and strawberries.

The year's longest day is here and there is a sense of summer's foreverness which dims the days of rain and holds no hint of raw days of November. So enjoy.

I have had to stop feeding most of my birds for the gray squirrels have taken over the feeders. I hope they will go away soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt celebrated their wedding anniversary on Wednesday. They had dinner with their daughter Ann and son David, in Norway, then they went to Skowhegan with Ann. Visitors at their home have been Debra and Fran Piccirilli, the new neighbors in the Perham camp and their children and families.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Durgin had a birthday party for their four-year-old son Kinsey on Saturday evening. There were 25 present for the evening cocktail. It was a delightful gathering.

The callers this week were Ann, David, Robert Holt, Mildred Bowman, Helron, Ernest Mundt, Bethel, Rena Curtis.

Cynthia Tift

TIFFT-AIKEN MARRIAGE

Cynthia Rose Tift and Douglas Craig Aiken were married May 27 in a 3 p.m. double ring ceremony at the Old Baptist Meeting House, in Yarmouth. The Reverend Bradbury Mitchell officiated. The bride is the daughter of Rosabelle M. Tift, of Bethel, and the late Robert C. Tift Sr., of Berlin, N.H. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde S. Aiken, of Charlotte, N.C. The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, Robert C. Tift Jr., of Buckfield, wore a formal floor-length gown of satin and lace with a matching wide-rimmed hat and trailing veil. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers. Jill Delmer, of Yarmouth, and Flo Aliberti, of Portland, attended the bride as matrons of honor. Nicholas Tift, of Buckfield, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Clyde S. Aiken, father of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Randall Aiken, of Charlotte, N.C., brother of the groom; Frank McShane, of Atlanta, Ga.; and Matthew Tift, of Buckfield, nephew of the bride. Musical selections were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tift Jr. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at Camp Hammond, Yarmouth. The bride is a 1972 graduate of Telstar Regional High School and a 1978 graduate of the University of Southern Maine School of Nursing. She is employed by Homedec, Portland, as district infusion coordinator. The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Independence High School, Charlotte, N.C. He received his premedical training at Davidson College, Davidson, N.C., and graduated from Bowman-Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, N.C., in 1979. He is in private practice at Yarmouth where he specializes in family medicine.

From the Bethel Area
Chamber of Commerce

Welcome to new chamber members Abbotts Mill Farm Bed and Breakfast, Bryant Pond, Grace and David McKivergan, owners; Bear River Post and Beam, Newry, Bob and Joanne Mender, owners; Gilead Campground, Joe Bagnell, owner.

The Board of Directors met for their regular monthly meeting on June 8.

The highlights of the meeting follow:

Mollycodd Day activities were discussed. The road race, the parade, lobster roll booth, game of chance, our invited guests Ronald McDonald, the Sesame Street Characters were covered. The Chamber's involvement with the Woodsmen's Competition was reviewed. Thanks to sponsors Boise Cascade, Bethel Furniture Stock, Andover Wood Products and Bear Paw Lumber Company, substantial prize money will be offered to participants.

A generic ad on the area has been placed in the "Maine Guide to Hunting and Fishing" to encourage this "off season" business. We have just sent out a mailing on advertising opportunities in the new chamber brochure and in "The Maine Guide to Winter." Call the office if you did not receive one and would like the information.

Bill Riley, chairman of the Big E committee and Robin will be meeting with reps from Oxford Hills to discuss our joint booth at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass. This show provides us with tremendous area exposure.

Robin reported that the childcare committee met and discussed the details of the survey conducted this past spring. The results show a need for more quality, affordable daycare choices. Cathy Newell reported that adult ed will be offering a course to provide information and training to prospective home day care providers in the fall.

Sylvia Clanton reported that the Bethel Area Reservation Service committee is developing a new contract and budget for the upcoming fall/winter season and they will bring it before the executive board for approval.

Committee chairpeople were solicited.

Bill Barter volunteered to chair the fundraising committee; Tim Hutchins and Jeff Parsons, dog sled races; Cathy Newell, community relations; Jeff Parsons and Dillon Gillies, membership; Leon Favreau, legislative affairs; Tim

By LORRAINE MILLS

Another month is drawing to a close. It's been a month that has put me into a lot of spiritual warfare as my values clash with those around me. I really have to struggle not to react with human emotions when people do hurtful things. I really want to hurt back.

Take this morning—the little girl I have staying with me this week came home in tears because some boys killed a big old snapping turtle (no doubt the same one I hauled out of the road the other day so it wouldn't get run over). I decided it was a good thing they weren't there when I got there since my first reaction was to send them into the pond where they threw the turtle. I happen to believe the turtle has as much right to live as they have. We share this planet and have no right to senselessly kill. However my reacting with violence to violence puts me in the same category with them and I don't want to have to explain it to God someday.

And take the other day when I tried to find a place for Vicki to swim and there were "private" signs on all the places children have enjoyed for years. Our right to air and water has been a right we have always taken for granted, but other people have different values. They, of course are the losers—all we've done is lost our access. They have lost their humanity, in my opinion—and I cannot but feel sorry for them.

But that was not my first reaction. My first reaction was "how dare these newcomers do this"—until one of the "newcomers" was more irate than I was. We humans sure are a funny bunch and I cannot but marvel at the sense of humor of our Creator. I hope more of it rubs off on me.

John Herrick, son of Lillian Herrick, is in the hospital with lymph cancer. I'm sure the family would appreciate your prayers.

Helen Chase, Howe Hill Road, and Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbs, North Paris, have moved into their respective camps for the summer.

Fritz Bayless and wife Eleanor, Pennington, N.J., are at the Case cottage, Twitchell Pond, for a vacation.

John and Lorraine Mills were in West Greenwood Thursday evening to visit Carolyn Colby and see the new dog.

There were 16 ladies at the Ladies Circle meeting Wednesday. They discussed the upcoming annual summer sale on Friday, July 21. There will be the usual food and fancy work tables and a luncheon at noon.

Ralph Mills has returned to his home after a two-week vacation in Michigan. He reports an interesting time as they tried to camp with leaky tents and drizzly weather. He also said the shoot was interesting as they were used to still targets and these were of the moving variety.

The Greenwood Historical Society will meet Wednesday, July 5, at 7:30 p.m., at the society building.

The Greenwood Fire Department will meet July 4, at 7 p.m., at the fire station in spite of the holiday and the vacation week. Come if you can.

Vicki Hughes, of Rumford, spent the week with John and Lorraine Mills while her mother was in Boston, Mass. with her brother James who had to have some more surgery—minor this time—on his leg. Rusty stayed this time with Craig and Sandy Nash in Dixfield. Miranda Cobb spent Sunday night with Vicki. Vicki spent Tuesday night with Jennifer McAllister. On Wednesday evening she was at John and Alta Ludlam's while the Mills attended Bible studies there. On Thursday she went to Lorene Cobb's and spent the day with Mandy, then attended V.B.S. at the Nazarene Church, and both girls spent the night at Mary Cobb's. Friday, Lorene and the children and Vicki went to Norway with Lorraine Mills; then Mandy spent the rest of the day with Vicki and the Mills, and then they attended V.B.S. in the evening. She's had a busy week.

Fritz Bayless and wife Eleanor, Pennington, N.J., are at the Case cottage, Twitchell Pond, for a vacation.

John and Lorraine Mills were in West Greenwood Thursday evening to visit Carolyn Colby and see the new dog.

There were 16 ladies at the Ladies Circle meeting Wednesday. They discussed the upcoming annual summer sale on Friday, July 21. There will be the usual food and fancy work tables and a luncheon at noon.

Ralph Mills has returned to his home after a two-week vacation in Michigan. He reports an interesting time as they tried to camp with leaky tents and drizzly weather. He also said the shoot was interesting as they were used to still targets and these were of the moving variety.

The Greenwood Historical Society will meet Wednesday, July 5, at 7:30 p.m., at the society building.

The Greenwood Fire Department will meet July 4, at 7 p.m., at the fire station in spite of the holiday and the vacation week. Come if you can.

Vicki Hughes, of Rumford, spent the week with John and Lorraine Mills while her mother was in Boston, Mass. with her brother James who had to have some more surgery—minor this time—on his leg. Rusty stayed this time with Craig and Sandy Nash in Dixfield. Miranda Cobb spent Sunday night with Vicki. Vicki spent Tuesday night with Jennifer McAllister. On Wednesday evening she was at John and Alta Ludlam's while the Mills attended Bible studies there. On Thursday she went to Lorene Cobb's and spent the day with Mandy, then attended V.B.S. at the Nazarene Church, and both girls spent the night at Mary Cobb's. Friday, Lorene and the children and Vicki went to Norway with Lorraine Mills; then Mandy spent the rest of the day with Vicki and the Mills, and then they attended V.B.S. in the evening. She's had a busy week.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The Moses Mason House Museum will open for the 1989 season on Saturday, July 1, beginning at 1 p.m. The museum will be open each day, except Monday, through July and August, from 1 to 4 p.m. Other times are available by appointment (824-2908). One of the new additions to the museum this year is a mid-19th century White Mountain landscape by James Welch, which is above the dining room fireplace.

A Mason family gathering will be held at the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 10 a.m. Tours of the house will be available until 4 p.m. and a special presentation on the Mason family of Bethel will be made beginning at 1 p.m. in the meeting room by Society Director Stanley R. Howe. Anyone with a Mason family ancestor is cordially invited to attend. Flunkies connected with the gathering are urged to take advantage of the beautiful grounds. For further information, please call the Society office or Elizabeth Mason Carter, 836-2343.

The annual picnic meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will be Thursday, July 8, on Intervale Road, at the home of Rodney and Geraldine Howe, beginning at 6 p.m. Bring a picnic lunch and a beverage if you wish. Lemonade will be served by the Society. Insect pests are very common this year, so it might be a good idea to bring repellants. The business meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. A marker to Benjamin Russell and his wife Mary will be officially dedicated in ceremonies presided over by Merton T. Brown, Bethel's present town clerk. Benjamin Russell was Bethel's first town clerk and this year is the 250th anniversary of his birth, in 1739. A handout providing brief biographical sketches of Bethel's 25 town clerks will be distributed to all those attending. The meeting is open to anyone interested. A delegation from the Fryeburg Historical Society is expected. (Russell came to Bethel from Fryeburg.) Copies of the reprint of the Barrows 1838 "History of Fryeburg" are expected to be available for those wishing them during the picnic.

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago: Gerald T. O'Connor, a physician's assistant, joined the staff of the Bethel Area Health Center. The Bethel summer playground opened Monday at Crescent Park School. Richard and Doris Brown celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter in Bryant Pond.

Births: Lucas C. Hiebert, Dustin J. Brown.

Deaths: Frank A. Carlin.

20 Years Ago: The Bethel Historical Society endowment fund received two yards of pennies from Randall and Sarah Stevens, four yards from Ruth Crosby and seven yards from Rebecca Bailey.

Births: Jacqueline M. Tibbets, Michelle Freeman, Teri L. Carson, John S. Saunders.

Deaths: Katherine Weilerer, Iva Packard, Ethel L. Jones, Everett C. Merrill, Roe Bartlett, Frank H. Sweetser, Nettie M. Stevens, Jesse B. Chapman, Clarence G. Byers.

30 Years Ago: Construction of a cement block building 50x60 feet was well underway on the Bethel-Locke Mills Road. It was to be occupied by Lloyd Lowell as a Western Auto store (now the Bethel Gospel Center.) Dr. Charles M. Smith began his residency in medicine at the Montreal General Hospital. P.H. Chadbourne and Co. had 9,800 acres in the tree farm program.

Births: Debra Hertell.

Deaths: Clayton F. Fossett, Ella Stevens Grover, Robert Grover, Chester Knowles, George E. Waldron.

40 Years Ago: More than five inches of rain fell on the Sunday River valley during the past week. An additional $117,450 in valuation was added to the Bethel tax rolls. Meetings were held to locate a baseball field. Land was offered on Lover's lane.

Births: Eleanor Thompson, George I. Angevine.

Marriages: Roscoe Truitt and Eleanor

During the dance of June 3, vandalism was done on the Common. Due to this and past complaints, the area is now posted. No loitering from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

It has also come to my attention that during that time two people had their back license plates switched. It was not noticed until a week later. So please check your plates and if they are different have the police run a check to find out who they belong to.

Mrs. Poor has informed me that Penny Poor will supply flowers to decorate the Common for Old Home Days.

The Ellis River Riders Club held their meeting recently. They voted to purchase horse crossing signs for the Green Bridge and Whistling Bridge. A building was donated to the group with placement at the ring to be determined later. Tammy Pingree won the door prize.

A benefit dance will be held July 14. Bobby Hodgkins and friends are donating their music. Tickets are five dollars with a 50/50 drawing in the evening. This will be held at the fire station from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Andover Wood Products employees are holding a benefit supper for Marsha Hutchins on July 22 at 5 p.m. This will be potluck with a raffle afterwards. This will be held at the C. E. Building next to the church.

Andover Wood Products will be starting their vacation on June 30 for two weeks.

GILLIES CLAN DOMINATES

NORWAY TRIATHLON

Bethel was well represented in Norway's Triathlon held last Sunday. The event benefitted the Norway YMCA and was generously staffed by local volunteers.

The event involved a 5-mile swim in Norway Lake, followed by a hilly 17-mile bike ride, followed by an equally mountainous 5-mile run.

Placing 3rd in the 20-29-year-old mixed team division were Linda Best, Andy Derstein and Will Talpy. Don Best also participated in this age group as an individual.

In the 40-49 age group, six members of the Gillies family participated.

Deaths: Frances C. Twitchell.

50 Years Ago: Postmaster General James Farley visited the Bethel Post office and autographed the stamp book of 10-year-old Eugene A. Van Den Kerckhoven, Jr. John and Edith Howe were given a surprise party in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary by neighbors and friends at Alder River Grange hall in East Bethel.

Births: Jack P. Allen.

Marriages: Willard O. Farr and Gladys M. Virgin.

Gould faculty begin busy summer of learning

Faculty at Gould Academy will be pursuing educational and professional advancement programs this summer, as well as doing some adventure travel to remote lands.

Physics instructor Tom Ford will continue his work with the Physics Teacher Summer Institute, an enrichment program begun last year for inadequately prepared physics teachers from throughout the state. Mr. Ford and three colleagues initiated the program in 1988 with $14,000, largely granted by the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program.

Held at the University of Maine in Orono, it was so well received that the group was able to raise $17,000 to sponsor 25 teachers and bring back graduates from last year's program to describe how they have applied their knowledge from the institute.

Health officers Mary Isham and Pat Donovan will continue their health-related training. Mrs. Donovan will take an intensive course at the University of Maine at Farmington, focusing on environmental awareness, substance abuse and community health. Mrs. Isham will again spend the summer working in the emergency room at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

Outdoor leadership and wilderness skills continue to be a strong interest of Gould faculty. English teachers Mac Davis and Bonnie Pooley, veterans of numerous Outward Bound winter courses over the last six years, have participated in staff training sessions held this month at the Outward Bound School in Newry and are now working as instructors over the summer months. Both Mrs. Pooley and Mr. Davis recently completed an eight-day wilderness first responder course offered by Wilderness Medical Associates, of Bryant Pond, for leaders who need to provide emergency care in remote areas.

Also pursuing wilderness skills is biology teacher Steve Sanborn, who will take part in a four-week course at the National Outdoor Leadership School (NOLS) in Wyoming. Like Davis and Pooley, Mr. Sanborn has worked with the eight-day Outward Bound/Gould Academy course, in which all juniors at the school participate each winter.

Bound for Alaska is Gould biathlon coach Kirk Siegel, who will be coaching at the U.S. Biathlon Team on-snow training camp, to be held on the Eagle Glacier, July 17-28. Mr. Siegel is coordinating the junior program at the camp and will travel with the athletes by helicopter from Anchorage to the training site, at 10,000 feet above sea level.

Steve and Lynda Chandler are doing traveling further from Bethel—in Australia and New Zealand—with their son Peter, who has just been hired as assistant director of admissions at Gould.

Chemistry teacher Ted Lawrence will participate in a conference on critical thinking and school issues at Milton Academy, in Milton, Mass. He will also attend a workshop in Canada on laboratory chemical safety, conducted by Chem Safe, Inc. Biology teacher Charlie Newell will take a course in teaching advanced placement biology at the Bates College Advanced Placement Institute, in Lewiston, June 25-30.

Close to home, numerous Gould faculty will be on the summer school teaching staff, including Summer School Director Bonn Gardner, chemistry teacher Ted Lawrence, English teacher Brian Walker and History teacher Dick Dohrmann.

Gould faculty have already been busy this summer. Spanish teacher Pamela Johnson has begun a seven-week learning disabilities course, concentrating mainly on dyslexia, at Massachusetts General Hospital. Associate Headmaster Dutch Dresser has just returned from navigating "Show Time," a Stephens Custom 47 sailboat, on the Trans-Atlantic Race from Daytona, Fla. to St. George, Bermuda. Dutch's son Derek served as a crew member on the boat.

Gould's enrollment management team—Headmaster Bill Clough, Will Graham, Dutch Dresser, John Todd and Kirk Siegel—joined colleagues from throughout the country last week at the Essex Institute in enrollment planning in Essex, N.Y., to address pressing issues of demographic shifts, financial aid, minority enrollment and the public perception of private school education.

Constance Burgess, daughter of Calvin and Cyndi Burgess, of Bethel, is pictured with her teacher, Mrs. DuBois, as she receives a certificate of achievement and a gift for her demonstrated patience. The presentation was made during the recent graduation and awards ceremonies at First Baptist Christian School, in Mexico.

Erin DuBois, daughter of Richard and Marjorie DuBois, of Andover, was recognized as an honor student in music and art at recent graduation and awards ceremonies at the First Baptist Christian School, in Mexico. Her teacher, Mrs. Jamison, made the presentation.

PUBLIC SUPPER IN STONEHAM

The East Stoneham Church, on Rte. 5, will hold a public supper on Thursday, July 6, 5:30-8:30 p.m. The menu will be homemade baked beans, brown bread, casseroles, salads, pies and beverages.

Pharmacy & Your Health

David Freble, Prim's Pharmacy
Loss Of Bladder Control

It is estimated that more than 10 million Americans suffer from urinary incontinence or the loss of bladder control. This condition affects many elderly persons. Ten to 15 percent of all older people living at home and over half of all elderly living in nursing homes experience urinary incontinence.

Incontinence may occur when the opening of the bladder does not close tightly enough to prevent urine from being released when an individual sneezes, coughs, or experiences other types of physical stress to the abdomen. This is called stress incontinence. Medicines which constrict the bladder opening or improve bladder capacity may be beneficial. However, surgery may be the only way to correct the problem.

Urgency incontinence results from the inability to prevent the urge to urinate. This may result from nervous system problems, such as strokes. Urinary tract infections or tumors also can cause urge incontinence. Prescription medicines used to treat this problem include anticholinergics (halt nerve impulses to the bladder), calcium blockers (increase bladder capacity), and antispasmodics (relax the bladder muscles).

Obituaries

FLORENA C. McEWEN

Florena C. McEwen, 82, of Bethel, died June 22, 1985, at the Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris, where she had been a patient three months.

She was born at Andover, Feb. 23, 1907, the daughter of William F. and Kate Marston Cole. She received her education in Andover schools and married Edgar L. Cushing in 1929. Mr. Cushing died in 1936. She was also predeceased by her second husband, Charles M. McEwen, whom she married in 1944.

Mrs. McEwen had been employed at the former Stowell Mill, in Andover, the R.J. Swain Mill, in East Andover, the Rumford Laundry and Stephens Memorial Hospital, in Norway. She lived for a time in both Rumford and Norway, and prior to entering the nursing home had made her home with her daughter, Thelma Remington, in Bethel, for the past 12 years.

She was a member of the Norway Baptist Church and was also a member of the Maine Society of Poets and was registered in the Who's Who of Poetry in 1978. She was a yearly recipient of the Golden Poet Award, from 1985 to 1988.

She is survived by two daughters, Lorena Stinnes of Andover and Thelma Remington of Bethel; a son, William F. Cushing of Bryant Pond; 10 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday from the Calvary Congregational Church, Andover, with interment in the Woodlawn Cemetery, Andover. Donations in her memory may be made to the Ledgeview Nursing Home, RFD #1, Box 3420, West Paris.

EDWARD M. QUINN

Edward M. Quinn, 69, formerly of Gilead, died June 20, 1985, at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

He was born in Portland, Sept. 26, 1915, the son of Thomas M. and Eleanor F. Skillings Quinn. He attended Portland High School and had worked for the Grand Trunk Railroad for more than 37 years, retiring in 1971. He was a member of the Bethel Lodge, AF & AM; a member of the Bethel Rotary Club; a member of the Kora Penne Shrine, Lewiston; a member of the Bethel Historical Society; a life-member of the Island Pond Historical Society in Vermont; and was originator and founder of the Steam Era Railroadiana Museum—first in Gilead and then in Bethel.

He married Marguerite Flint on Oct. 1, 1964. Mr. Quinn had lived in Norway for two years.

He is survived by his wife of Norway; three daughters, Kay Hopkins of Derby, Vt., Patricia Little of Derby, Vt., and Donna Nutting of Lyndonville, Vt.; four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Memorial services were held Saturday, June 24, at West Bethel Church. Donations in Mr. Quinn's memory may be sent to either the Bethel Historical Society or to the Island Pond Historical Society, c/o Gwen Hunt, Island Pond, Vt.

WILLIAM W. HOWE, SR.

William W. Howe, Sr., 89, a retired salesman, died on June 17, 1985, at his home in Norbeck, Md., following a long illness.

Born in Springfield, Mass., March 7, 1920, the son of Henry E. and Ethel Allen Howe, he graduated in Northampton (Mass.) High School (1937) and Gould Academy (1938). He served in the 82nd Airborne Division in the European theater during the invasion of Normandy, the campaign in Holland and the Battle of the Bulge. He married Gabrielle Winklin, of Goronne, Belgium, who survives.

Other survivors include nine children, 16 grandchildren, three brothers and two sisters.

A funeral Mass was observed at Ft. Myer Chapel on June 21, with interment at Arlington National Cemetery.

FROM BETHEL TO BETHEL—Girl Scouts from Cadette Troop #280, in Bethel, Pa., paid a visit on Bethel area scouts last week. The Pennsylvania girls and their leaders also visited Bethel, Conn., and Bethel, Vt. They decided to check out their namesake towns after learning that there are a lot of Bethels in the U.S. In fact there are 21 Bethels, from Maine in the east to Alaska in the west. The 21 Bethels are found in 19 states—Tennessee and Indiana each have two towns named Bethel. The Pennsylvania scouts financed their trip by selling pens, cookies and calendars. The leaders said they didn't know when, or if, the girls could raise enough money to visit the remaining 17 Bethels, Bethel, Pa., they said, is smaller than Bethel, Me., having only 1,600 inhabitants. The town is 35 miles east of Harrisburg, the capital of Pennsylvania. The group made the trip in a rented van. Hostesses and guests lined up in front of the town office for a photo. They are, left to right: first row, Kris Bancroft, Diane Russell and Sara Wight; second row, Beth Craig, Jennie Cooley, Meredith Otten and Bekka Kuzik; third row, Beth Wright, Crystal Bashore, Heather Houser, Linda Eck (assistant leader) and Doris Derr (leader).
